House May Vote On Measure Today

Municipal And Sponsored Public Displays Would Not Be Barred

SAFE AND SANE FOURTH SOUGHT

By GEORGE I. FISHER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 18.—A fervent plea, echoing from parents and school authorities from all over the state, for the elimination of Pennsylvania's Fourth of July fireworks scourge with its maiming and destruction of young lives, moved nearer realization today.

The Republican-dominated house of representatives placed in position for final passage today the Hamilton-Tahl bill to prohibit the sale or use of fireworks in Pennsylvania, while the senate recommitted for hearing a bill on the same subject.

Demanding a state-wide ban on all combustible or explosive toys, the house measure, co-sponsored by Reps. Robert S. Hamilton and Herman J. Tahl, Philadelphia Republicans, was designed to bring "a safe and sane Fourth of July" in Pennsylvania this year.

Last year on Independence Day eight persons lost their lives while hundreds of others were injured.

Specific Prohibitions

Specific prohibition would be made of blank cartridges, toy pistols, cannons or canes, fire balloons, fire-crackers, torpedoes, sky-rockets, Roman candles, bombs, sparklers or other fireworks of like construction, except under special permit.

The Hamilton-Tahl bill would allow municipal authorities, however, to grant permits for public displays in charge of competent operators. Applications for these permits would have to be made at least 15 days in advance of the demonstration.

A $500 bond would be required of persons or groups planning public displays to cover possible damages.

Some Exceptions

No attempt is made in the bill, however, to stifle the wholesale fireworks trade. Wholesalers and dealers within the state, under the bill's provisions, would be allowed to sell at wholesale for out-of-state shipments.

In addition the measure would also allow use of illuminating fireworks by railroads as signals, for blasting or quarrying, the sale of blank cartridges for theatrical shows or athletic exhibitions or for ceremonial purposes, by military or veterans' organizations.

Members of the state motor police, any county sheriff or constable would be authorized to seize all stocks of fireworks offered for retail sale. The bill would become effective upon its signature by the governor and it provides a fine of $100 or 90 days in jail for violations.

In the senate, Senator J. Albert Reed, Washington Democrat, demanded that an early date be set for the public hearing on his anti-fireworks bill. Another measure similar to Reed's and sponsored by Senators John Dent, Westmoreland, and William J. Eroe, Lawrence, Democrats, will probably be studied at the same time.

protect that highly strategic and busy shipbuilding center from attack in event of a conflict.

To Protect Empire

Other reports of British military activity gave added proof of the determination to let no part of the huge empire fall prey to danger should the activities of the Rome-Berlin axis lead to warfare.

From Port Said it was reported that a heavy concentration of British troops was in progress along the western Egyptian frontier, where reinforcements arrived from Palestine. Other reinforcements were reported en route from India to the Egyptian border, which fronts Italian Libya.

Anti-aircraft batteries, coastal defenses and artillery units were mounted at Port Said and in the Suez Zone, while six British warships were anchored off Alexandria.

A number of French naval units also were expected at Port Said, these reports said.

Chamberlain may reveal in his speech that Britain, Russia and France have agreed to coordinate their air forces with those of Poland and Rumania to resist aggression against any one of those countries. This would give the "Stop Hitler" bloc an estimated potential strength of 13,000 warplanes.

Well informed sources said bilateral defense accords between Britain and Turkey and France and Turkey may be made by Wednesday—although certain complications still remained to be ironed out before Turkey signs on the dotted line.

In the Anglo-Soviet discussions, it was learned, agreement in principle has been reached on some 75 per cent of the points raised, and an Anglo-Soviet mutual aid pact is expected to result.

as saying they would do the same thing, legally or illegally, if conflict broke out again.

New Link In "Stop-Hitler" Plan

A source close to the government, however, lent additional color to this dramatic possibility by his assertion that an intergovernmental agreement embracing the sabotage as a new link in the "stop Hitler" chain is being formulated.

It was understood that the French government had obtained King Carol's personal agreement to this dramatic procedure in exchange for an allied promise that he would retain his throne after the conflict is over.

It was reported that French secret service agents have already been assigned to the chief Rumanian oil fields, awaiting orders to set them afire.

During the last war, Rumanian oil wells ignited as a war move burned for from three to five years.

Dependence of Germany upon Rumanian oil continues despite the Italian absorption of Albania, it was pointed out. The Albanian supply, it was said, could not take care of the military needs of Germany and Italy for more than a month.

German oil imports from Mexico, with which the Reich has been bartering, would be cut off by an allied blockade.

meal and meeting was invoked in a rather unusual way. Four young women of the Brahms Ladies' Chorus sang "Grace Before Meat," a musical blessing written especially for the meeting by Garth Edmundson, local organ composer.

Dr. John J. McVaine

Dr. John J. McVaine, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church was the speaker of the evening and had as his subject, "Music, The Universal Language."

Said Dr. McVaine, "in classic myth we read that when Orpheus played upon his lyre the trees ceased their rustlings to listen, and the wild beasts crept out of the forest to hear, forgetting their ferocity. The heart of Pluto was melted and captive souls escaped from the prison of the Gods, the wheel of Ixion stopped, the thirst of Tantalus was satisfied and even the goddess of death paused in her melancholy labors. Such is the eulogy of music by the Greeks."

"Each of us can cultivate the ability to understand and enjoy music."

Workers Speak

Several of the workers present were called upon for brief remarks and responded. Among them were James M. Smith, Sr., Miss Barbara Schulz, County Treasurer V. I. Mandich, W. W. Campbell, Mrs. Harry L. Gormley.

The campaign director Norman E. Clark was introduced and outlined his plans for the campaign. "This campaign is going over because you want it to go over," said Mr. Clark.

"To bring the good things of the musical world to our city is to enrich it. You are here tonight because you believe in this work. Now go out and sell your enthusiasm to your friends and neighbors."

Workers were urged to report in to the headquarters of the campaign in the Castleton lobby, especially on Friday afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock. A final report will be made on Thursday of next week.

The Metropolitan Concert Guild replaces the old Civic Music Association. The organization is now entirely local and it is planned this year to bring to New Castle outstanding musical attractions, beginning with the Don Cossacks in October.

COAL DEADLOCK STILL UNBROKEN

cal supplies for electric power in New York and other eastern cities dwindled alarmingly will be placed before the small subcommittee of operators and union leaders by letter.

Plan To Use Oil

If Dewey's proposals present any semblance of hope, he will be invited into the conference to discuss them in person, it was decided by W. L. Robinson, a coal operator and chairman of the subcommittee of which John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers of America, is also a member.

Meanwhile to the discomfort of both operators and miners, more and more large power companies in the east were hastily transforming their generating machinery from coal-burning to oil-burning equipment. More orders were placed for foreign coal chiefly from Wales to fill the rapidly emptying storage bins.

(Background note: Both operators and miners fear the trend towards oil consumption which has been regarded as one of the chief ills of the languishing coal industry. A prolonged shutdown might find former coal users continuing with oil after the settlement.)

Working with the industrial committee will be two sub-committees, one on finance and the other on retail sales.

Appointed to the industrial were Robert C. Love, chairman; Charles H. Johnson, Jr., George Balph, A. C. Hoyt and Adolph Green. Named to the retail sales group were A. L. Buntz, Jr., chairman; George F. Winter and Earl T. Ramsey.

The transportation body, it was stressed, is merely to determine facts. Available information is to be gathered and reported to the board and the advisory council in an unbiased manner within a short time.

Demands Action Be Taken Against Harry Bridges

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Demand that Secretary of Labor Perkins proceed immediately with deportation proceedings against Harry Bridges, West coast C.I.O. leader, was made today by Chairman Martin Dies (D) Texas of the house un-American activities committee, despite the supreme court decision in the Stevedores case yesterday.

Dies, after studying the court's opinion, declared that the ruling that past membership in the Communist party is not ground for deporting an alien, does not affect the Bridges case.

progress had been made in German-Polish negotiations since Germany proposed the return of Danzig several weeks ago.

Danzig Issue

Nevertheless, reports persisted that the Danzig question and the entire issue of German-Polish relations may form the topic of an early declaration.

(Background note: Already strained by Polish fears of possible aggression and by German demands regarding Danzig, Berlin-Warsaw relations received a further set-back recently when Poland entered a defensive agreement with Great Britain. In so doing, Poland aligned itself with the so-called "Stop Hitler" bloc, an action which was soundly criticized by Berlin, which accused Great Britain, France and other nations in the anti-aggression bloc of attempting to "encircle" the Reich.)

In his Reichstag address a week from next Friday, Hitler is expected to denounce President Roosevelt's peace proposal on grounds that it implied Germany and Italy plan aggressions against other European states.

The fuhrer also may broach a series of counter-proposals calling for satisfaction of German demands for "living room" as the basis for permanent peace in Europe.

Britain and France were reported to have the following vessels in the area: Eight battleships, two aircraft carriers, ten heavy cruisers, nine light cruisers, seventy-one destroyers, eight torpedo boats and forty-eight submarines.

Italy and Germany, on the other hand, had two battleships, two pocket battleships, one aircraft carrier, seven heavy cruisers, fourteen light cruisers, fifty-nine destroyers, seventy-one torpedo boats and one hundred and eighteen submarines in the danger area.

Woman's Club Hears Of Conditions In Europe

New insight into conditions abroad, particularly in Germany, was gained by members of the Woman's Club, at their meeting in the Highland U. P. church Monday afternoon, when Miss Helen Hiatt, lecturer and student of international affairs spoke on this topic.

During the past year, she has studied at the London School of Political Science, where she is preparing her doctor's thesis on "Propaganda and the Rise of Dictators." In preparation for this, she spent some time in Germany and lived in a German labor camp for girls, where she endured the same kind of hardships that these girls do, and was subjected to the same rigid discipline.

In this camp she was able, she stated, to study at first hand, the working of the German propaganda machine and to observe its effect on the German youth. This, she stated, is so dangerous because it is so effective.

The German definition for freedom, which is incultured in the minds of these youths is that "Freedom is not doing what you want to do. It is becoming what you should become."

She saw how this propaganda worked out in the countries recently annexed by Germany, where the idea was built up in the minds of a greater portion of the populace that joining with Germany was the proper thing to do.

Miss Hiatt stated that war will start until one side of the balance; the German-Italian group, or the British-French-Russian group; becomes stronger than the other. At the present, the powers opposing Germany and Italy are pretty well balanced with them she stated, and both sides are trying to make new alliances with some of the smaller powers to strengthen their position.

The meeting opened with the singing of the national anthem, with Mrs. Harry L. Gormley leading, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Paul Welsh.

The following delegates were appointed from the Woman's Club to the Lawrence County Federation meeting at the First U. P. church on April 26: Mesdames Verne Dufford, T. A. Gilkey, Earl Wimer, Louis Kohn, William Margraf, Raymond Horchler, W. A. Woodworth and Joel McKee.

ALMOST FORGOTTEN ITEMS

THE raucous screaming and the steady beat of drums from Europe drown out the small voices telling that momentous events are happening in this country, too.

We should not lose sight of our own affairs behind the European smoke-screen.

Looking back a few days, these would have been front-page news at any other time:

The pale ghost of a government reorganization bill has at last been passed.

An award of damages against a sitdown-striking union makes certain a Supreme Court appeal on which the whole future of unionism may depend.

The Supreme Court reverses its 120-year course in regard to mutual taxation of Federal and state salaries.

If Europe would only be quiet, so we could attend to our own business!

PAYING FOR PRIVATE LOSSES IN WAR

If modern warfare has brought fresh horrors to civilians, at least one Government is planning new ways to lessen some of the hardships that inevitably befall those who keep the home fires burning. The British proposal for compensation for wage-earners and salaried workers injured by air raids and provision for dependents of those who lost their lives is now taking definite shape.

The Government also intends, so far as funds are available, to pay for damages to private property and where housing is destroyed to replace it as soon as possible. Retail dealers in essential commodities are to be insured.

All this seems a rather large order for a nation fighting for its life, when every penny would seem to be needed for guns and ammunition and support of the armed forces. But wars are no longer conducted wholly by professional soldiers on distant battlefields. The economic factor is as important as the military, and more than ever victory depends on sustaining the fitness and morale of the civilian population. So aside from the humanitarian aspect, there is an eminently practical basis for the British Government's new plan.

JAPAN BOGGING DOWN IN CONQUEST OF CHINA?

It may be that the dramatic shift of the major part of the United States fleet to the Pacific will cause a drastic change in Japanese policies. At all events, the reported plan of Tokyo to seek the active assistance of Germany and Italy in crushing China is nothing short of astonishing.

According to the project as outlined by the newspaper Nichi Nichi, the Japanese will seek to bring "diplomatic pressure" on the Ambassadors from the United States, Great Britain, France and Soviet Russia and to curtail the commercial interests in China of those four countries.

In return for German and Italian assistance to complete Japan's "overwhelming military victories" in China — victories that were insufficient to end the conflict because of the aid China was receiving from outside — Tokyo would give "unqualified support" to Berlin's and Rome's aspirations in Europe, according to Nichi Nichi.

It is difficult to perceive, for one thing, how Hitler and Mussolini could be of substantial help to Japan in China. They appear to have their hands pretty full. Moreover, there seems to be no reason why this reputed plan should affect in the slightest degree the United States policy in the Pacific. This country has certain interests there and has had them for many years. It has every right to maintain them and to protect them.

More than anything else, however, the Nichi Nichi article tends to reveal the hopelessness of the Japanese position in China. After blasting their way across a peaceful nation, after bombing countless defenseless civilians, the Tokyo war lords find conquest still remote. If they are to press on to seize British, French and Dutch possessions in the Far East they may need more German and Italian aid than, it is conceivable, they will get.

STATE CHECKS BY MILLIONS

Operation of the half-a-billion-dollar-a-year business which is the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania requires issuance of more than 23 million checks every 12 months.

Much of this heavy volume of work comes as a direct result of increasing security consciousness which has characterized legislation of the last half dozen years. Foremost among new obligations are those imposed by greater attention to requirements of the needy and establishment of Unemployment Compensation.

The Treasury Department signs and disburses all of these checks, and actually writes about 16 and a half million of them. Checks covering Unemployment Compensation payments — although not written by the Department — are audited, signed, and reconciled in a special section of the Department.

More than half of the approximately 90,000 checks handled every business day go for direct relief payments. Unemployment Compensation payments take another 25,000; while the remainder go for payments to the aged, the blind, to dependent children; and to pay the usual run of State bills.

Checks covering all normal State business; and those for payments to the aged, the blind, and to dependent children are issued from the main Treasury office in Harrisburg. The latter payments — especially those for Old Age Assistance — will be still further expedited if staggered mailing schedules now being studied in 27 central counties prove satisfactory.

Because of the heavy volume of direct relief payments these checks are issued from four district offices in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton and Harrisburg. Each office serves neighboring counties and thus checks reach needy recipients with all possible dispatch. These checks are issued within 24 hours after applications — received in the counties — are approved by the Department of Public Assistance and checks requisitioned.

Unemployment Compensation checks are forwarded to a special Treasury unit for checking and signature. Normal volume is about 25,000 a day, although in peak times that figure has mounted to more than 50,000. These checks too move out within 24 hours after they are received.

You don't realize how pathetic man can be till you see an important citizen in a strange town where nobody gives a darn about him.

Two American singers have signed with the Metropolitan Opera Co. How an opera star whose name can be pronounced will succeed is a question.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

READING TO YOUNGSTER BEST
"DEAR MR. MYERS: I am a parent who reads with keen interest your daily articles.

"Some weeks ago you wrote that for 20 years you had been trying to prevail upon parents, librarians and teachers to read to young children rather than to tell them stories.

"In that particular article no reasons were given for the preference of reading rather than the telling of stories.

"Would you kindly give me your reasons? Thank you!"

Here they are:
1. Few can or will tell stories to the child. Practically anyone can read to him—parent, grandparent, older child or maid.

2. Reading, therefore, offers more opportunities for relieving the weary mother and calming Baby when excited; also for Dad and other family members to win the baby's companionship and co-operation.

3. Reading can begin much earlier than telling. While the infant looks at the pictures he gradually absorbs what is being read about it—visual and auditory appeal.

4. Though listening early to a story cultivates habits of concentration, listening while looking at illustrations tends to do so better.

5. The language in a story read to a child is far better, as a rule, than in a story told. Besides, the same words, phrases and sentences are used over and over, giving the child good speech patterns. If you make a single error in the oft-read story or poem, you will be corrected by the little listener. School children who had been read to from early babyhood excel in oral and written expression.

6. Tell the baby a story and he associates it with you as its source; read it and he associates it with the book. There gradually grows in him, therefore, a wish to be able to read alone.

Love For Books
7. Read to from early babyhood, the child acquires a tenderness toward a book which takes on a kind of precious personality to him. He gains a lasting love of books as well as of reading.

8. School children who have been read to from early infancy don't become word readers; they read for meaning. They have good preparation for using reference materials and learning to turn what they read into their own language.

Some clever teachers are having children from grades one or two stages higher read to small groups of three or four so they can see the illustrations of the book. While in teacher training some years ago I was able to induce teachers to motivate the poor reader of a higher grade by having him read to a few children two or three grades lower. It works. I recently saw the plan in operation at Utah University. See what opportunities there are, at home to help the poor reader by getting him to read to a baby brother or sister.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

HE MUST HAVE BEEN!
Judge F. A. Irwin of the Paulding County (Ga.) Superior Court, was trying to clear his docket and reached the case of Blank vs. Double Blank, which had been on the docket for some time and had been passed for one cause or another.

"What about this case?" he asked. "Who represents the plaintiff?"

No one answered.

Finally some lawyer spoke up and said, "I think that Brother C. D. McGregor brought that case."

"Brother" McGregor happened to be in court that day, and the judge leaning over his desk, addressed him:

"What about it, Brother McGregor?"

"He's dead," answered McGregor.

"How do you know that he is dead?" asked the judge.

"Well," said McGregor, "it was like this, this fellow came into my office and told me that if I would file the suit that he would pay me the next Saturday if he lived. He must be dead."

The case was dismissed.

Patagonia Grab Is Boomerang
Argentine Government Suspicious
Stewart Thinks Charge Trumped Up

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, April 18.—A first class professional propagandist, doing his best to stir up anti-Nazi feeling in Latin America, couldn't have hit on a brighter idea than instigating the story of a supposed Hitlerian plan to grab Patagonia from the Argentine Republic. I know something about propagandizing in that section, for I handled Uncle Sam's publicity out of Buenos Aires during the period of our participation in the World War. In that period, two or three pro-ally riots were stirred up by it in Buenos Aires, in the course of which a number of German shops were sacked and the office of the big local German daily (La Union) was set on fire—though the Argentine smoke eaters put it out before much damage was done. But I admit I never thought of anything as good as this alleged Patagonian grab.

I say "alleged" advisedly, because it's hard for me to believe that the yarn wasn't deliberately planted. Not that I doubt Herr Hitler's long-time ambition to march into Latin America. However, this seems to me to have been too premature to appeal even to his judgment.

Didn't Fizzle Out

Just after the story broke, I had a few remarks to make concerning it, but I supposed it would fizzle out pretty speedily. It hasn't done so.

The Argentine government evidently is making a thorough investigation, as indicated by subsequent dispatches. It obviously is genuinely worried. This speaks for excellent propagandistic follow-up methods—on the theory that the thing is propaganda. Yet maybe it isn't. I still don't think that Der Fuehrer, at the present stage of the game, tried to start anything so far from home. Nevertheless, there's a chance that German-Argentine hot-heads were doing a bit of real plotting. In that case, perhaps, they tipped off their scheme to Germany's Buenos Aires embassy, which naturally would have been sympathetic toward it. Then the news leaked. All that's conceivable.

It couldn't imaginably have been a more inopportune break for Germany. A few years hence, if the Nazi-Fascist had good luck in Europe, it might be possible to see their way clear to start in on Latin America. Now isn't the proper juncture, though. It's much too early for them to accomplish anything definite and they simply are creating sentiment against themselves, which will count later.

Furthermore, Argentina was the very worst place for such a campaign to be launched. Germans are exceptionally influential in that republic. They're strong also in adjoining southern Brazil, but there they're an outlying colony. In the Argentine they're weighty right in the capital. They're not true Argentines, either. They're not like our German-Americans, either. Our German-Americans are predominantly American. The Argentine's Germans stay German. I've mentioned anti-German riots in Buenos Aires. Does that imply that there are not many of them? By no means. It implies that there are so many of them, and that they try to be so dominant that they're hated.

And, after all, they're a minority.

Italians Potent, Too

Italian-Argentines likewise are potent. They're not overly friendly with the German-Argentines. Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini are buddies in Europe, but their countrymen on this side of the Atlantic don't get on so well together. They don't forget that they fought one another in the World War.

The Spanish element is advertised as pro-totalitarian because of General Franco's victory across the water. The truth is that as much of South America has been pro-loyalist as has been pro-Franco.

Notwithstanding its dictatorships Latin America is democratic.

Now it's suggested that Germany may take Patagonia away from the Argentine. Can anyone question that this makes Argentina as mad as a hornet. It also is suggested that Nazis from southern Brazil should invade Argentina to effect the grab, if resisted. Argentina is jealous of Brazil anyway. Brazil, for that matter, isn't more than locally pro-Nazi and not at all pro-Fascist.

Had the overseas Nazi-Fascists wanted a new world country to propagandize they might have chosen, say, Chile.

Their kind of influence wouldn't have made much of a dent, but they could have said, "Oh, well, our philosophy couldn't have been expected to signify in Chile."

But, if it can't signify in Argentina, the center of German culture in Latin America, it can't signify anywhere in Latin America.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

It was just 27 years ago that the Titanic, the biggest, swiftest and most luxurious ship in the world, struck an iceberg and sank with a loss of 1,517 lives. Two years later, the International Ice Patrol had been formed, with 13 nations participating, the United States policing the sea lanes, but with the other nations sharing the expense.

A little sputtering stringhalt wireless set kicked out a warning of icebergs to the oncoming Titanic. Whether the message was received was never quite cleared up by the investigation. Certainly it was not heeded. And quite as certainly it would be heeded today. Four times a day, or more if necessary, the Coast Guard cutters, on their spring and summer rounds, send out by radio the exact location of all icebergs, large and small, and details of their size and drift. The patrol possibly has saved many times the number of lives lost on the Titanic.

News from Washington now is that the Coast Guard is asking the cooperation of the new transatlantic clipper planes in the exchange of weather data. The planes, in turn, will maintain a hawk-eyed watch for the prowling bergs. It is all in the full flower of the radio miracle. Ships, planes and shore stations can gossip at will, as if they were all in a fireside chat.

Year by year, various branches of the government use the iceberg patrol in various research, with meteorology tremendously aided, under the direction of the hydrographic office. This is the first year in which the Coast Guard vessels are releasing balloons with radio apparatus.

Some of them rise to a height of seven miles, filching weather secrets from the skies which could be obtained in no other way. The condensed argot of the weather wizards enables them to transmit to ships and planes a steady flow of accurate intelligence of winds, temperature, visibility and, above all, of the murderous bergs. And weather lore from above is relayed by the cutters to the transatlantic ships, with the Coast Guard vessels an alert liaison between ships and planes and the never-sleeping friends of both.

On March 8 of this year, there came down to Boston a riot call from the Grand Banks. Two huge white killers were loose on the sea lanes. Within a few hours the Cutter Chelan was on the way up there, to watch and warn, to be followed a few days later by the Champlain. Other ships have since gone on patrol and the swift liners are being shepherded safely through the "graveyard of the Atlantic," as they used to call it.

Most of the great icebergs are "calved" on the West Coast of Greenland, as a glacier hunches and crunches its way slowly down to the edge of the ice cap and finally breaks away. It takes the runaway about a year to get down to the traffic highways. In its glacial progress, before breaking away, it has picked up a few million tons of snow, solidified to the equivalent of ice by terrific pressure. A big iceberg is apt to be more snow than ice.

As it gets into the Gulf Stream, the snow melts first, and the berg may be a glittering blue and white flag, of astounding beauty in the bright sunlight, through which a big ship could pass—but certainly wouldn't.

As they hit the warmer regions, the icebergs do some strange acrobatics. This "tumbling" is due to the upper mass melting first, finally bringing as many as four some-what level decks to the surface. The center of gravity shifts. And these submerged remnants are dangerous. With the complete effectiveness of the patrol, the skyscraper bergs, sometimes 200 feet high, are easy to locate and guard against. The berg which is just about on its last legs is the real killer.

Virtually every crackpot at large anywhere has schemed a way to get rid of icebergs. These schemes, of course, include the recurrent heat ray which is going to melt them like a snowball in an oven. The Coast Guard lads have tried the simple expedient of shelling them with their heaviest guns. It was like a humming bird pecking at the pyramids. Possibly if the entire navy were put on the job, it might blast loose the upper works of a big iceberg, but that submerged mass would be more dangerous than ever. Nor could the submarines help any.

The only thing we can think of, so far as icebergs are concerned, is to steer clear of them. The 1,517 lost lives paid out for the ice patrol would have been just a couple of columns of casualties in the World War. We haven't done so well in policing ourselves as we have been in making the sea lanes safe.

SEATTLE, Wash.—Gen. John F. O'Ryan of the 7th division in the World War says only an international police force can preserve peace.

"If we are not ready to assume or share the responsibility for maintenance of world peace, then we are not ready for world peace and we should quit our meaningless lip service to peace and our criticisms of armaments and other evils that necessarily are collateral features of a world in training for war."

CHICAGO—Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick asserts America's greatest contribution to democracy will be to stay out of war.

"It was war that gave us Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin. Another war will give us another crop of dictators stronger than the last—some in our own democracy."

LOS ANGELES—Vincent Sheean finds armed conflict inevitable in Europe.

At some point within three or four months, Hitler and Mussolini will unintentionally overreach themselves and precipitate inevitable war."

The Castleton Hums With Many Activities

More and more the Castleton Hotel is becoming the community center of New Castle. Hardly an afternoon or an evening of the week but the hotel has a multiplicity of meetings, some of them dinner meetings and others executive.

a meeting, in the upper rooms the Exchange Club met at its dinner meeting. In the Greater New Castle Rooms a meeting of directors was held and in still other rooms the Citizens Lumber Company had a salesmen's meeting. In the meeting of the Citizens Lumber, H. R. Berggren, of Erie, Pa., district representative of Weyerhaeuser Sales Company of St. Paul, Minn., spoke on "The Romance of Salesmanship" and in an inspirational way showed how salesmen could go far beyond the product itself in their sales endeavors.

SEWER PIPES CLOGGED—FAMILY IN DANGER

When this happens the health department insists upon opening the drain at once. If not, poisons might back up and pollute the whole house. ## Students Raising Funds To Beautify School Property

Magazine Selling Campaign Is Part Of Program—Other Methods Planned

In order to beautify their school property and also to produce something to be proud of in later years, students at the George Washington Junior-Senior High school, are working hard to raise funds to purchase shrubbery and evergreens.

As a part of the campaign, the students are making calls to the homes of their friends, in an endeavor to secure magazine subscriptions. A special commission of 50 per cent has been allowed by the company for all subscriptions secured by the pupils, in this drive.

According to Professor B. K. Thacker, principal at the school, other methods of raising money for the beautification project have been planned, including an operetta, several benefit ball games, and a 10-A play. In addition to these methods, the class rooms are gathering what money they can.

Any extra money that the pupil can afford, and desires to contribute goes into the classroom fund, to the credit of the donor.

In discussing the project today, Professor Thacker stated that along the Euclid avenue side of the school lawn, attractive flowering bushes and shrubs will be planted. Near the entrances and along the school building, plans have been made to plant rare and unusual evergreens. Professor Thacker pointed out that this project, when completed, will be of educational value to the public as well as to the students.

Special Requests
The President, congressional military affairs leaders were informed, will send special budget requests for funds to build airplanes and for additional facilities at the Panama Canal.

Whether the President will seek money or contract authority for the entire 3,000-plane program was uncertain.

Administration Warned About Foreign Policy

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 18.—In what was plainly a command that the administration go slow in its foreign policy, powerful Democratic spokesmen in the senate warned Monday that the United States stands solidly against "meddling and interfering in the affairs of Europe"—even to the point of suspending trade with all warring powers.

It was a sober-minded senate that heard Senator Walsh (D), Massachusetts, chairman of the naval affairs committee and a leading figure in the movement to rearm the nation, declare:

"Our people want peace, not war." Senator Ashurst (D) of Arizona, chairman of the judiciary committee, commended the Massachusetts senator for expressing his "wise observations" and added that "if we follow his judgment, we will have no war."

The senate demands that "no meddling" came as Secretary of State Cordell Hull declared that President Roosevelt's dramatic appeal for peace on Saturday has mobilized world opinion for peace.

But there was admitted no hope that Chancellor Hitler of Germany or Premier Mussolini would accept the president's suggestion for a non-aggression pact and a disarmament conference.

The outbreak of senate debate came as Secretary Hull praised the president's efforts as "a practical and timely contribution to the cause of peace."

TERRIBLE SENSATION TO WATCH DIPHTHERIA IN ACTION

I have been describing the terrible thing diphtheria used to be before we had its antitoxin. It was an awful sensation to watch this terrible disease in action. In the worst stages, children choked to death right before your eyes, and you couldn't do anything for them.

Sometimes doctors would try heroic measures. Some even inserted a tube in the windpipe to let the air through that swollen throat. Intubation sets were developed so that this tube could be fastened to the windpipe with a minimum of trouble. But the rural doctor didn't have such things as these. I remember once going to a home where the child was choking to death before the eyes of the frantic parents. They pleaded with me to do something, so I cut one of the rubber tubes off my stethoscope and fastened it to the windpipe with adhesive. The child eventually died, but it was a peaceful death compared to the one it was facing.

This operation on the windpipe seems incredible, yet I have known children who, when they were relieved this way, were able successfully to fight the disease. Too often, though, even when they got their breath, the heart couldn't stand the strain—it was over-wheeled with poison.

I have heard my father tell of such operations as I described above. He used to say to me that when an epidemic of diphtheria struck a community, 75 percent of all that took it would die. All the older doctors felt that way about it, for they were helpless to do anything.

It wasn't until 1883—the year that I was born—that the mystery of the disease and the identity of the bacteria that caused it were discovered. Shortly after this, the poison, or toxin, produced by the bacteria was also discovered. This was followed by the development of the antitoxin which killed this poison. Since that time the death rate from this disease has dropped very rapidly. If the antitoxin is given early in the course of the disease, it neutralizes the poison given off by the bacteria, and the child recovers.

When I started practice 30 years ago, this antitoxin was pretty crude stuff. It was expensive, too, for we had to pay about 25 dollars for a shot of a 1000 to 2000 units. On that basis, the antitoxin we inject in a patient today would cost four of five hundred dollars.

In those days, doctors would buy this antitoxin and take chances on getting anything back for it. The result was we always lost money in a diphtheria epidemic.

A short time ago Frazier Hunt dug up an incident I had forgotten all about. Just after I left medical school, I was employed to help a doctor in a mining camp. A diphtheria epidemic came along and I toxoided everybody who showed any symptoms. Well, our bill for toxoid was mighty high, so I got fired. I didn't care. I saved some lives.

Husband Of Former Local Woman Has Some Exciting Experiences In Europe

Adolph Hitler is causing plenty of uneasiness to some governmental heads of Europe, but he is also giving some American business men some headaches. Among them is Walter Abels, husband of the former Miss Elizabeth Arden of New Castle.

Mr. Abels is an importer located in New York and among other products has imported glass products from Austria and from Czechoslovakia, or rather from what used to be those countries. Some months ago he made a trip to Austria to close some contracts with Austrian factories and the day he got into Vienna, Hitler and his troops moved in and Austria folded up. Goods manufactured there became German goods and the tariffs were up.

Mr. Abels returned home and made some contacts with manufacturers in what was left of Czechoslovakia and again made a trip across the Atlantic. In the meantime the Sudeten country had become German territory, but Mr. Abels thought he could close with some Czech potteries.

After crossing Germany he entered Czechoslovakia, not knowing that it was the last train to cross the border. As he arrived in Prague he learned that German troops were on the border. He attended the Prague Fair the next day and made arrangements for products from some inland potteries.

As he came out of the Fair he found German troops everywhere. After waiting an hour in the cold and snow for a taxi he finally got one and rode back to the hotel, in front of him a German machine gun and a field gun back of him.

News was suppressed, rumors were thick and fast, all trains were stopped, hotels were filled with German officers, terror seemed to cover the city. Finally, Mr. Abels decided to go on to Poland to visit some glass factories there. It took two days of waiting in front of the Polish legation before he could get his visas enclosed.

Mr. Abels finally got a train out of Prague and decided to go on into Italy, stopping at Venice. In a letter to Mrs. Arden he expresses a high admiration for the Czech people and their fortitude under strain.

The German military he describes as being efficient, well disciplined and for the most part courteous. But after his exciting time he expresses his feelings in the closing line in which he said "thank God we live in the United States, how these people envy us, and rightly."

Mr. Abels formerly resided in New Castle with his aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Read, of Hazelcroft avenue.

Sir Walter Raleigh School Of Love-Making Banned

By MILTON HARKER

(Copyright, 1939)

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, April 18.—The Sir Walter Raleigh and Shakespearean schools of love-making were banned irrevocably today from "The Knight and the Lady," Warners $1,800,000 production which goes before the camera in three weeks.

So this story of a tragic love affair will have Errol Flynn, as Lord Essex, and Bette Davis, as Queen Elizabeth, being as straight and direct in their affair of the heart as though the story were taking place in 1939 instead of the year 1578.

This information comes to your reporter direct from Michael Curtiz, who'll direct the picture.

"The love story will be brought out just as though it were taking place today instead of almost four centuries ago," Mike said. "I believe that that's the way the people want it, without all the folderols with which the screen has been accustomed to tell medieval love stories. "I don't think people change over the ages. Costumes may change, but I think people were the same 400 years ago or 1,000 years ago as they are today and acted towards each other much the same way."

"So that's the theory on which I'll make the story of Essex and good Queen Bess. What he's got to say he'll say just like a man would say it today and he won't get down on bended knee to do it."

You can bet you're going to get a good picture with Curtiz behind the camera. His last was "Dodge City," smashing records all over the country, and before that he made "Angels with Dirty Faces" and "Four Daughters."

Joan Blondell, a pretty tired girl because her services are in constant demand at the studios, will take the best kind of a vacation a movie star can take as soon as she completes "Good Girls Go to Paris Too" for Columbia.

She's going right home lock the gate, shut off the telephone and the door bells and then spend three weeks with hubby Dick Powell and their two children, Norman, going on six, and Ellen, just past eight months. The only place movie folks can enjoy real peace and rest is at their own hearth.

"What I need to make me feel right again is three weeks of sleep and plenty of time to play with the children," Joan says. She went over to Columbia as soon as she completed "East Side of Heaven" for Universal and that means for weeks she's been getting up every morning except Sunday at 5:30 a. m. Try that as a steady diet for a while and soon you'll be happy you're just Tillie the Toller and not a cinema celebrity.

Direct Relief Load Decreased

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 18.—Gov. Arthur H. James appeared gratified Monday over a report that the decline in Pennsylvania's direct relief load the week ended April 8 was the most pronounced since mid-November.

Thirteen thousand fewer persons received the dole during that week and a reduction of $18,416 in relief costs from the previous week was noted by Secretary of Public Assistance Howard L. Russell.

Unemployment compensation and improvement by private industry were major factors in the removal of 3,493 cases from the rolls, he said. Of the 13,004 dropped from the rolls, he said, 4,082 persons were absorbed by private employment, while unemployment compensation was credited with removing 3,594 persons.

Words Of Wisdom

Tyrants forego all respect for humanity in proportion as they are sunk beneath it. Taught to believe themselves of a different species, they really become so, lose their participation with their kind, and in mimicking the god dwindle into the brute.—Hazlitt.

Hints On Etiquette

Take your turn, when you are being waited upon, either in a shop or at a ticket window, but don't push ahead of those who were there before you.

Miss Laura Nagel Becomes Bride Of Arthur Sturgeon

Ceremony Performed This Morning By Rev. W. K. McFarland At New Wilmington

ELLWOOD CITY, April 18.—In a quiet, impressive ceremony performed this morning in the New Wilmington United Presbyterian church, Miss Laura Nagel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Nagel, of Pleasant Hill, was united in holy wedlock to Arthur Sturgeon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sturgeon. Rev. W. K. McFarland, a former pastor of the Camp Run United Presbyterian church, was the officiant using the popular single ring ceremony. The bride was very lovely in an attractive poudre blue ensemble with which she wore navy blue accessories and a pretty corsage of white gardenias. Miss Faye Wagner, of Pleasant Hill, was the bride's only attendant and she was attired in a smart rose-berried frock with harmonizing accessories. Her escort was of burnt orange roses, Edgar Nagel, brother of the bride, served Mr. Sturgeon as best man. Immediately following the ceremony, the couple departed on a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. and other eastern points of interest. Returning home, they will reside at the Sturgeon home where the bridegroom is engaged in farming. The bride is a graduate of the local high school with the class of '38 and with the bridegroom has a wide assemblage of friends.

Consider New Relief Program

State Legislative Committee Has Another Proposed Plan Under Discussion

WOULD ELIMINATE STATE DEPARTMENT

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 18.—A sub-committee of the house welfare committee today had under consideration a new and drastic proposal for a public assistance program in Pennsylvania. The proposal was advocated by Russell E. H. Romberger, Dauphin county poor director and president of the State Association of Poor Directors.

Romberger appeared before the committee at its session in addition to Howard L. Russell, secretary of public assistance. Representatives of federal social security agencies also were present.

Welfare Districts

Under the proposal advanced by the head of the poor directors' association the department of public assistance would be abolished and county welfare districts would be created.

The Romberger plan calls for the counties paying 10 per cent of the relief costs and the entire expenses of administration. The county welfare boards would be either selected or appointed but would come under the supervision of the welfare department.

Under the proposal the state's 80 per cent contribution would be paid to the county treasurer for use of the welfare district. The county's share would come from local taxes.

In 1937 when the present relief system was established the State Association of Poor Directors opposed its enactment. The present relief system ripped out of office all poor directors although those whose terms had not yet expired continued to receive pay for the remainder of their elected term.

Jury Discharged By Florida Judge, In Alienation Case

James Edgar, Detroit Sugar Millionaire Undecided On Trial Third Time

(International News Service)

MIAMI, Fla., James Edgar, Detroit sugar millionaire, announced today he would confer shortly with his attorneys to decide whether a third trial of his $300,000 alienation of affections suit against Lewis E. Mallory, Pennsylvania oil producer, would be sought.

After seven hours of deliberation a jury that had heard testimony in the second trial of the suit was discharged last night by Circuit Judge A. D. Barnes.

The jurors emerged three times for clarification on points of law after it retired at 4:55 p. m. yesterday. Sent back to the jury room for the fourth time, the jury finally emerged at 11:45 p. m. and said it was hopelessly deadlocked.

Edgar charged in his suit that Mallory stole the affections of Kathryn Crawford, formerly Edgar's wife and one-time movie actress. At the first trial two years ago a jury awarded Edgar $35,000, but upon appeal the Florida supreme court reversed the decision and ruled that to collect damages, Edgar must first prove he had Miss Crawford's love and affection at the time he charged Mallory alienated them.

Pirates Take Opening Battle From Reds 7-5

Season Of 1939 Under Way For Big Leagues; Rain May Spoil Games Today

SENATORS-YANKS GAME CALLED OFF

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 18.—Nearly 250,000 spectators in American and National league cities hopelessly waited today to greet the opening of baseball's centennial season, but were forewarned that a majority of them probably would be forced to delay their vociferous reception due to continued rain squalls through the east and mid-west. There was a possibility that all games would be snuffed out by a hangover from the rigors of winter, with even a flurry of snow predicted at one point. Other than that the good old summertime is here—in ear muffs.

Pirates Top Reds

The weather seeped into yesterday's two-game prelude to today's general opening and washed out of baseball's most hallowed ceremonies—the customary first pitch by the president at the capital, where the world champion New York Yankees were scheduled to meet the Washington Senators. The day's other contest was threatened at Cincinnati, but held anyhow, and, as a result, the Pittsburgh Pirates lead the National league. They beat the Reds 7 to 5 before a crowd of 30,600 Cincinnati customers.

Five Teams In Softball League

Five teams have taken out franchises in the Class B softball league, it was announced today, following a meeting at the "Y" last night. The league will open on Tuesday, May 23 and it is hoped that at least three more teams will join before that time.

Games will be played twice a week—Tuesday and Thursday, starting at 5:45 o'clock. Any player under 21 is eligible for the league. Each team will be allowed 18 players. Umps will be chosen from the crowd.

The following teams have taken out franchises—Fannin, New Castle Indies, Rose Bawlians, Cory Corners and the Troglites. It will be a split season.

HORSESHOE PITCHERS ACTIVE

The nice weather is bringing out the horseshoe pitchers again. There will no doubt be a lot of activity around the Allen street court this summer. There are several fine horseshoe pits in this city.

Louis Kayoes Jack Roper In Opening Round

Just Takes Two Minutes, Twenty Second After Boxers Exchange Few Blows

ROPER NURSES BATTERED HEAD

By RALPH B. JORDAN
International News Service Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES, April 18.—Solomon-faced Jack Roper, a 36-year-old ringman who's been at it for night onto 15 years, today nursed a battered head and reflected on his moment in the sun.

It was two minutes and 20 seconds, to be exact, that square-shouldered Roper basked in the sun of a heavyweight championship fight. It took that long in the first round for Joe Louis, the brown bomber from Detroit, to catch Roper and knock him out, Joe thereby retaining his title.

Didn't Last Long

The fistie gentlemen squared away last night before 30,000 customers at Wrigley field, a Coast League ball park, to mark the first time in 30 years that a heavyweight crown had gone on the block in California, and the customers paid about $120,000 for the privilege.

The excitement didn't last long, but there was quite a bit of it, for which Louis was rewarded with a round $85,000. Roper and Co-Pro-moters Mike Jacobs and Tom Galley did not cut up much of a melon. The bout started with Roper, a very short, short-ender inside the betting, flicking a nervous left in the direction of a cool and calm champion.

Trade Few Punches

They traded light punches and then Roper, a tough old fighter with no class but a kick in his right fist, staked his all on one game try. He smacked Louis three times with a left, obviously surprising the champion, and waded in, throwing caution to the wind and left the rights at Louis as fast as he could hurl them.

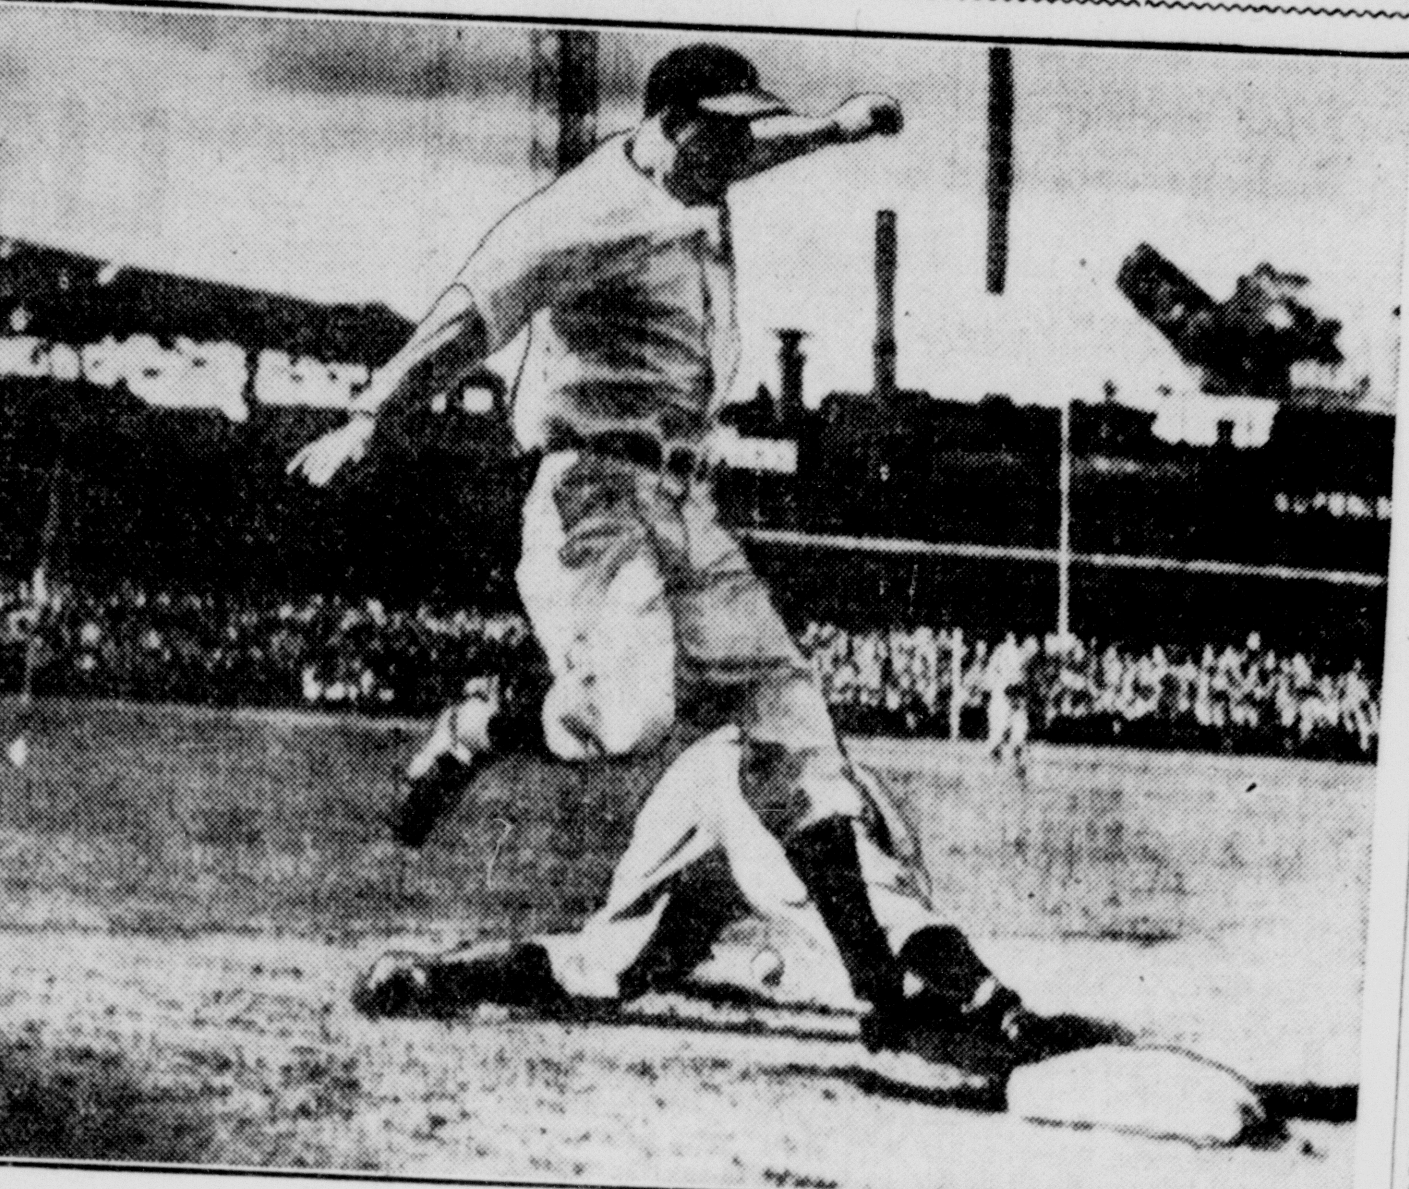

Louis covered, peeking out from behind his gloves. One of Roper's motions, an overhead right, caught Louis on the cheek. It jolted the champion and he promptly went to work and jolted Roper out of the picture.

Joe, from his crouch, came up swinging, driving straight lefts and rights into Roper's face and body. Jack staggered back into his own corner under the storm, and started to wilt. His head, swaying from side to side as Joe pelted it, sank into his protective hands. His knees buckled. Louis cracked down with a terrific right. It caught the bent-over veteran behind the ear and he went sprawling.

Texans Remember

Texans gather again, April 21, to celebrate San Jacinto day—commemorating the Battle of San Jacinto in which General Sam Houston and 800 ragged troops met and destroyed a much larger Mexican army under General Santa Ana, April 21, 1836. Photo shows the San Jacinto monument on the battlefield, 20 miles from the city of Houston.

First Action Of 1939 Baseball Season At Cincy

First major league action of the 1939 baseball season shows Berger of Cincinnati safe at first in the fifth inning of the opener with Pittsburgh at Cincinnati which the Pirates won by a score of 7-5. Berger was safe on Gus Suhr's error of a throw from third.

Sutherland To Take State Job

Will Accept Post In State Department As Director Of Dental Health

PLANNING FOR STATE SURVEY

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 18.—The football career of Dr. John B. (Jock) Sutherland, famous coach of the University of Pittsburgh, today came to an end after two decades of gridiron history.

Putting an end to rumors that he might accept another coaching position, the noted football mentor accepted a post with the Pennsylvania department of health as director of dental health. The post pays $4200 annually, considerably less than he received at Pitt.

Plans State Survey

Sutherland, when asked if he was giving up coaching, replied: "In the meantime, I am. I did not leave the University of Pittsburgh to take another coaching job." Sutherland, who holds the degree of doctor of dental surgery, resigned as Pitt football coach on March 6 after 15 years service. Previous to that he served for five years as football coach of Lafayette college. His resignation climaxed long-standing differences with Pitt authorities over athletic policies.

Sutherland revealed that he had been offered numerous coaching jobs since he left Pitt but was more deeply interested in the educational possibilities of the state job.

Immediately following his appointment the department of health announced that Sutherland would conduct a state-wide dental survey.

Local sport potpourri—Tommy

Leach Pagley, a former mittman and one of the best pool players hereabouts for some years, has done more than his share to keep boxing alive. Besides serving as matchmaker, Pagley has maintained a modern gymnasium for the past several years, thus giving local youngsters an opportunity to begin their pugilistic careers. His downtown gym is the daily training quarters for most of New Castle's simulators. While many athletes forsake the active life early in life, Lou Gunton keeps on going. In the summer Gunton plays lots of tennis. Ping Pong is Lou's winter sport. He plays both games unusually well as most of the younger set will testify. Ralph H. Gardner deserves a spot with Gunton. The former high school faculty manager is still one of the best tennis addicts in town.

Diamond shorts—Four new managers

make their big league debut with the start of the season. They are: Leo Durocher heads the Dodgers in place of Burleigh Grimes; Ray Blades, of the St. Louis Cardinals, is Frankie Frisch's successor; Fred Haney follows "Gaby" Street as pilot of the St. Louis Browns; "Doc" Prothro takes over Jimmy Wilson's job as headman of the Phillies. Ed Baker, of the Tigers, and "Gaby" Hartnett, of the Cubs, start their first full season. . . . It didn't take much time for one of Ossie Vitt's "Prima Donnas" to break loose. Hemsley's latest is nothing new to baseball. One of these days, Hemsley, a top ranking catcher, will find himself out of baseball.

May Start Work On Ball Diamond In Short While

Taylor Township Supervisors Will Make New Field At West Pittsburg

Work on the new baseball field at West Pittsburg will start just as soon as the weather warms up and it quits raining. The Taylor township supervisors—Frank Carvella, Norman Johnson and William McMahon—will supervise the job of putting the new diamond into top shape.

West Pittsburg fans are very much pleased at the prospect of having another baseball field. The Penn Power plant is utilizing the diamond that was in use for many years. Manager Danny DeGenova hopes that the field will be ready for the opening of the city league season on Sunday, May 14. The "Gas Housers" are the defending champions this year.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Officials of the Lawrence county baseball loop would like to increase the roster of the circuit to eight, even clubs already having indicated a desire to be among the "Who's Who" in the county parent diamond exponents when the season starts. The officials would like to get the eighth team from the city of New Castle, which would round out the circuit. When the officials and managers meet Wednesday evening in the Sports Goods store, the trophy for having captured the championship will be presented to Bessemer. Jim Martin managed the team during the titular race and will be present, as will Paul Nord and Webb Stanley, who will co-captain the team this season. Martin left the helm, not because anyone desired him to, but because of other matters requiring some of his attention. When President Alce Samuels calls the roll there will be present Wednesday evening, it is anticipated, representatives of Princeton, New Castle Hot Tots, New Castle team backed by the New Castle Refractories, and the Ellwood City Special club. Princeton and the Hot Tots are new in the league. Ellwood City had representation years ago. The four regulars are Bessemer, South Hills, Hillside and Wampum.

Having completed the tenpin season

, the officers and members of the various teams will fet Wednesday night in the banquet hall of the Loyal Order of Moose. The Moose lodge 51 won the season championship in the city league in a playoff with the F. O. E. The latter had won the first half. The players on the winning team: S. FROM ME TO YOU
By MESEALL
Taking up where we left off yesterday... concerning the way we should treat tourists this summer... in fact at any time of the year... but more especially this summer. We mentioned that gas station attendants, hotel employees and policemen were the main ones to give an impression to touring folks. Most gas stations are painted up and the attendants are in uniform, their talk is pleasing and they try to make your brief stop pleasant... Hotels are very courteous and their bellhops are usually in uniform, ready to give any information necessary to a tourist's well being.

We would like to see the police of New Castle in alike uniforms... instead of one this way and one that way. He should stand upright and be wide awake at all busy intersections of the business districts. Smoking should be left until after working hours. Now when a fellow makes such a suggestion he should have something to back it up. We suggest that the city help the policemen in buying his uniform... match dollar for dollar... this we know would be very satisfactory to the men. It would give them something to be proud of and that in turn would make them on their toes and willing to help the motorist obey the laws. Very few policemen like the job of giving a ticket, they would much rather help a motorist overcome his difficulty.

Not that we like to be mentioning this all the time... but when is the street department going to assign workmen to the North Mercer street hill. It is becoming rather holey and we don't mean holy.

It is surprising the number of folks who think you are talking about them... one doesn't even mention names and the first thing you know several folks are down your neck because you talked about them. These confessions have led to some very interesting stories... sometime when time permits... we will tell you.

Attention Mrs. Housewife... and we do mean you. How is that spring housecleaning coming along. Does the paper need cleaning, any odd jobs that need done, does the lawn need rolled or the like... every type of workman you need can be found if you use the classified ads. Come on!

Irregular First Hour In Stock Market; Weaker Later In Day

NEW YORK, April 18.—The stock market weakened late in the forenoon today after a listless and somewhat irregular first hour. Leaders added losses of a point and more to yesterday's declines.

Markets abroad gave the cue for the local performance, backing and filling over a restricted price range. There was little of interest in the domestic business news, which added to the speculative apathy.

Grains and cotton were steady, while most minor commodities held close to previous closing levels. Bonds were as dull as stocks, with minor losses predominating.

Take notice that on the 15th day of April, A. D. 1939, Lawrence Securities Company presented its petition averring that it is the owner of a part of a certain piece, parcel or tract of land situated lying and being in Neshaunock Township, Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, containing one hundred seventy and eight-tenths (170.8) acres, more or less, which property is a part of a certain tract of land bounded on the North by lot No. 1875 in the second district of Donation lands; on the East by lands of John and William Graham's heirs being Donation lot No. 1881 in the same district and on the South by a road leading from the Mercer and New Castle road to Graham's Station on the New Castle and Franklin Railroad, and Donation lot No. 1878, and on the West by lands of Peebles and Donation lot No. 1873, containing 256 acres, more or less, and being the whole of Donation lot No. 1876 and the Northern and Western parts of lot No. 1877 in said district, of which George Pearson, late of the County of Mercer, State of Pennsylvania, died seized.

Over 280 Millions Of Dollars In Pennsylvania's Bur- glar-Proof Safe

SCHOOL FUND IS LARGEST ITEM

HARRISBURG, April 18.—Triple guarded behind successive barriers of electric alarms, tear gas batteries, and bullet-proof glass—in the gigantic steel and concrete vault of the state treasury here—are securities owned by the commonwealth, or deposited with it in the conduct of its business, amounting to $282,806,681.

Recent inventory of these securities by State Treasurer F. Clair Ross shows 62 millions plus held as collateral of the 660 banks which thus qualify as state depositories; and 12 millions posted with various departments of the state government as faithful performance bonds.

Heading the state-owned securities are almost $163,000,000 worth of the School Employees Retirement Fund. Next in order is the State Employees' Retirement Fund with nearly $20,000,000; and the State Workmen's Insurance Fund with a little over $12,000,000.

State To Ship Many Plants To Sustain Bird Life

HARRISBURG, April 18.—More than 188,000 game food plants of 15 different species will be shipped from the Mont Alto nursery for planting this spring, according to the Department of Forests and Waters.

The department has been cooperating with the Pennsylvania Game Commission in an enterprise to increase, by planting, game food plants at advantageous locations on the lands of the two departments. Most of the species used are types which retain their fruit after the leaves of the plant have fallen, thereby providing food for the game birds and animals at a time of need.

The species to be planted include grape, bittersweet, European fly honeysuckle, white mulberry, persimmon, dogwood, wild rose, Japanese barberry, Black haw, wild cherry, maple-leaved viburnum, hawthorne, hazelnut, crab apple and Siberian pea.

Senate Hampers Relief In State Declares James

Failure To Approve Relief Boards Is Hampering Relief Efforts Is Charge

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 18.—Failure of the state senate to confirm the 477 members of the 67 county boards of assistance is hampering relief, Gov. Arthur H. James charged on Monday.

To a great extent, the governor intimated, the absence of relief boards is also contributing to the number of relief chiselers on relief rolls.

To the charge of the Democrats in the senate, who have failed to back confirmation, that the governor was "playing politics" in his appointments, the governor answered: "A simple matter of how the senate might find out whether we're playing politics," commented Governor James, "is to confirm the appointees and try them out. They couldn't do a much worse job than some of the boards have done to date."

"I think it necessarily must follow that the absence of relief boards has affected the question of relief. It's a pretty big job for one man. In Dauphin county alone, which is acknowledged to be one of the best administered in the state, the auditor-general's department found a five per cent discrepancy between those who should be on relief and those who shouldn't. In other counties, where the complaints have been rather general, it could seem that the situation might be even worse."

Pending confirmation of the 67 county relief boards, the administration of relief has been centralized in the hands of Secretary of Public Assistance Howard L. Russell.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Down with the King of Human Misery—rheumatism. There is more rheumatism than any other chronic disease. Six million five hundred thousand Americans suffer from this condition.

Rheumatism is from the Greek "rheum" or humor. Painful fluid was said to flow hither and yon in the body. Rheumatism means painful joints, muscles, ligaments and bones. It includes arthritis, gout, neuralgia, neuritis, lumbago.

Half of those disabled are under 55 years of age. Arthritis disables 1,500,000 Americans every year. Another 1,750,000 by neuralgia, neuritis and lumbago. Economically rheumatism is a very costly disease. Education and early treatment are indicated.

Don Cossacks Open Concert Season Here

Famous Russian Male Choir To Have First Spot On Local Concert Books

For the opening number of the Metropolitan Concert Guild season, which opens in October, the directors of the guild announce the Don Cossacks, a choir of Russian Cossacks, former officers in the czarist army, but banished from their own land.

They have been in the United States many times and have appeared from coast to coast. Directed by Serge Jaroff, they have won the plaudits of thousands in the United States and their appearance is something to anticipate.

The Metropolitan Concert Guild is a local organization, formerly the Civic Music association. Members felt they could handle the arrangements locally as efficiently as could outsiders and thus far the response to the membership campaign has been most satisfactory.

Local Comment

Continuing some comment from local people on the concert guild idea the following quotations are published today:

It is my conviction that, on sober second thought, most people of discriminating tastes in the various arts, prefer their contacts directly, rather than vicariously. The Metropolitan Concert Guild, in my opinion, most admirably offers this privilege to New Castle.—Garth Edmundson.

Fine music is soothing to tired nerves as fresh air is beneficial to coalminers. There is no doubt in my mind that the people of New Castle and Lawrence county will support the Metropolitan Concert Guild in promoting the best of all arts.—V. I. Mandich, treasurer of Lawrence county.

Any city or community is rated according to its churches, its schools, its library, its art museums and its educational features. New Castle vicinity is most fortunate in being able to bring to the city the world's greatest musical artists. Through our Concert Guild we are offering New Castle such attractions as only much larger cities can afford. This concert course makes Lawrence county most cosmopolitan.—W. W. Campbell, president National Supply association, New Wilmington.

Tobacco Act Is Constitutional High Court Says

Marketing Quota Provisions Of 1938 Act Upheld, Method Of Protection

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 18.—The supreme court on Monday held constitutional the tobacco marketing quota provisions of the 1938 AAA Act in a case regarded by the New Deal as a test to its claim of broad congressional power over agriculture.

The case was appealed by James H. Mulford and other Georgia tobacco growers, after a three-judge federal court at Valdosta, Ga., denied their plea for an injunction.

The decision was 6 to 2. Justices McReynolds and Butler dissented.

Under terms of the Agricultural Administration Act of 1938, which grew out of ashes of the original AAA, previously scrapped by the high court, congress set up measures for control of tobacco, wheat, cotton, corn and rice marketing.

The method of control of marketing, and thus of production, differ, but all follow the basic pattern of restricting marketing farm products in excess of quotas fixed by the secretary of agriculture.

Mary Muffet junior dresses are definitely flattering. The newest styles are adorable. Made of "Snowspun" a delightful new summer fabric... and featuring... little girl waists... bosom emphasis... furling swing skirts... unusual trims. You'll love the colors—powder blue, pink, baked clay, rose, mint green, aqua, navy and black. Sizes 9-17.

Illustrated "Repeater" Frankly so named because it is the summer '39 version of one of the most flattering dresses Mary Muffet ever designed. Made of "Snowspun", with a zipper down the front that terminates into cute box pleats. The tiny flowers are of lace.
